My nephew is 3 years old now. After his 1 year old birthday cake, this is the second birthday cake I made for him. I tried something new this round, taking his birthday as experiment to try on new cake.

I wanted to bake mini cup cake since long time ago. At first, my plan is to bake him a car cake since he likes to play with cars. But from his respond, he prefer airplane, and sometime motorbike. What he likes the most is Mickey Mouse! But he had Mickey cake on last year birthday, we "reject" his request and ask him choose for others. So, in my final decision, I decided to bake him cup cakes with all those things on top.

I baked chocolate cup cakes as base. Fun part is decorating sugar paste. I have never try on this, and I am poor in art, so confident level is low. After made those cute stuff, I found it is really a good try. I am happy with it. I bought ready mix sugar paste. Divide to few portions and mix with colour. It is not that difficult to make these cute stuff. Guys, guess which one is Mickey?? I know it doesn't look like Mickey at all. Will try to make something else again with the remaining sugar paste.
